Miners' Strike Wage Dispute Not Yet Settled

Strike Enters Third Day With Miners Of Nation In Idleness

EARLY ADJUSTMENT HAD BEEN EXPECTED

Negotiations Are Being Continued Today To Seek An Agreement

(BULLETIN) (International News Service) WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The sub-committee of four, attempting to reach an agreement to end the strike of 400,000 bituminous coal miners, made "some progress" during this morning's deliberations, it was reliably reported early this afternoon.

The sub-committee members had lunch served in their room, instead of recessing as on previous days, leading to the belief that an agreement was in sight.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The strike of the 400,000 union bituminous coal miners emerged to the front today as a serious national issue as it entered its third day with practically the entire industry at a standstill.

Ever since Monday, when the miners found they had no work because of the failure of the operators to grant a new working agreement, rumors have flown thick and fast that a quick settlement would be forthcoming and this large army of men would continue to dig out the type of coal which keeps the railroads and the factories operating.

Expected Early Settlement. Three days have elapsed now and no such settlement has been produced by the representative committee of both sides, even though

When Mike Heckert, of McClelland avenue, raises tomatoes he doesn't fool with the bitty ones. He brought one in to a member of The News staff weighing 1 1/4 pounds and measuring 18 1/4 inches in circumference. It is of the Queen Victoria variety.

Being driven through the business section of town in a wheelbarrow by your jesting friends is rather an embarrassing situation. Last night a young man who had lost his wagger regarding the Louis-Baer fight was being "taken for a ride" in a wheelbarrow, much to the amusement of pedestrians.

How's this for a combination? A young school girl was seen last night riding on roller skates and pushing a scooter along beside her.

Reports are being received from this district that "Northern Lights" have been visible in the sky this week. The lights appear as wide ribbons from a horizon to a line north the zenith in the sky. The lights are unusual at this time of the year, scientists say.

Corn and wieners roasts are still interesting various groups these cool evenings. Pa New last night saw three such events in progress in the immediate New Castle vicinity. The crowds were enjoying their picnic repeat around roaring bonfires.

Hallowe'en parties are being planned by the clubs now and that is a sure sign that the autumn season is with us. Officially, too, autumn started on Monday of this week.

Pa New is certainly glad to see work resuming on the Croton hill stone fence.

Sherman's Confession In 'American Tragedy' Admitted By Court

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 25.—Newell Paige Sherman's battle for life suffered a severe blow today when Judge Thomas J. Hammond ruled that his confession to police that he murdered his wife, Alice, so that he could marry another, could be admitted as evidence at his "American tragedy" trial here.

The judge's ruling, which was desperately fought by the defense lawyers, was made soon after court opened at 9:30 a. m. It may prove the most important ruling of the trial.

"I am convinced the confession was a voluntary confession," the judge ruled. "I am convinced that no threats or promises were made to induce the prisoner to make the confession. It may be admitted as evidence."

Defendant Stolid. The 26-year-old choir-singer took the vital decision as stolidly as he had taken everything else since his trial for life began. There wasn't an expression on his placid face.

As there were no eye-witnesses to see Mrs. Sherman drown in Lake Singletary on the night of July 20, the confession was the back bone of the state's case. And Sherman's fight to bar the confession—he claims he was browbeaten by police—was the main strategy of the defense.

In the confession, made to State police the day after the tragedy, (Continued On Page Two)

Two Surprise Witnesses In Senator's Case

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 25.—The state called two "surprise" witnesses today to testify that Senator William H. Clark, Chester Republican, told them during the 1935 session last June he would not report the general appropriation bill from his committee "until he got what he wanted."

C. C. Swift, Edinboro, president of the Pennsylvania School Association, testified he asked the silvery-haired appropriations chairman on June 18 that when the omnibus appropriations bill would be reported and that Clark said:

"It won't be reported until I get what I want. I've something to thrash out with the governor's office before I can report the bill out."

The testimony was corroborated by H. E. Springer, California, Pa., school association, both men testified on cross examinations they were not paid lobbyists.

It is on the night of June 18 that the state charges Clark attempted to obtain a concession from Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti and the then secretary to the governor, Harry E. Kalodner, for state insurance on liquor stores in return for his exerting his influence behind administration appropriation items in the omnibus bill.

Italy Awaits League Move

Reserves "Full Freedom Of Action" In Ethiopian Controversy

EXPLANATION OF STAND GIVEN

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Sept. 25.—Italy reserves "full freedom of action" in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis and will await the next move of the League of Nations before planning her own next step, an official spokesman declared today.

Commenting upon yesterday's cryptic cabinet communiqué, about which much speculation arose, the spokesman said:

"The wording of the communiqué reserves for Italy full freedom of action. Do not forget that some time ago Premier Mussolini summarized the Italian position in the terse formula 'With the League, without the League, or against the League.'"

"That still stands. In the League covenant you can read whatever you like. Through the covenant you could deduct the conclusion from the report of the League's committee of five that Ethiopia is not a country fit to sit with the League, or you could reverse that to con-

President Asks For Guidance Of U. S. Clergymen

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—On the eve of his departure on a trip to the Pacific President Roosevelt has sought the counsel and guidance of a number of clergymen throughout the country on the administration's policies.

He has asked them to advise him about conditions in their respective communities and to "tell me where you feel our government can better serve our people."

This unprecedented action was disclosed today not by the white house but by recipients of the letters. They evidently were widely distributed for clergymen of all denominations have received them in Maryland, Rhode Island, Indiana and other states.

It is believed that they went out to a selected list of churchmen but how many were circulated has not been revealed.

Domestic Discord Is Blamed For Double Tragedy In Greensburg, Pa.

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Sept. 25.—Domestic discord today was blamed for the slaying of Mrs. Elsie Miller, 29, of Jeannette, by her husband, Harry, 30, who then ended his own life.

Mrs. Miller was shot as she stepped from an automobile on a downtown street. As she fell, the husband, without an exchange of words, turned the gun on himself.

Both were taken to a hospital by passing motorists. Mrs. Miller died instantly and her husband three hours later. They leave a 13-year-old daughter.

The couple separated about two weeks ago, according to friends. Mrs. Miller went to live with her brother in Jeannette. She returned to Greensburg to do some shopping when shot down.

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 25.—Impressive ritualism and a message of love from Pope Pius XI to the Catholic youth of America was the order of the day at the seventh national Eucharistic Congress today after a stirring attack directed against communism by Alfred E. Smith, introduced as "the foremost Catholic layman of his generation."

Nearly 50,000 persons thronged to the city's vast stadium on the lake front last night to hear Smith, former governor of New York and presidential candidate in 1928, sound a vigorous defense of Christian doctrine against the onslaughts of communistic influences.

Midnight Mass. Two solemn pontifical masses, of the five on the congress program, were celebrated today. Another will be offered at midnight tonight at an open air ceremony in the stadium that is certain to set a new high in religious splendor.

American Legion Shaping Policies

Convention At St. Louis Takes Up Business Program For Year

CLEVELAND LIKELY FOR 1936 SESSIONS

By ARTHUR B. DONEGAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 25.—Catching its second wind the seventeenth annual convention of the American Legion today got down to the rock bottom business of determining its policies for 1936, in preparation for final sessions tomorrow.

Resuming business sessions after yesterday's holiday, which was given over to the Legion parade and a series of social events, the 1207 delegates this morning started serious consideration of the resolutions which will make up next year's platform of the Legion and attempted to narrow down its selection of 1936 convention site.

Cleveland Likely Selection. Award of the convention was looked for during the day, with indications pointing toward Cleveland as the favored site. Bidding against the Ohio metropolis for the 1936 conclave are Atlantic City, Denver and Los Angeles, Cal., none of which would admit defeat as the session got under way. All of them have advertised the attractions of their localities as a gathering point for next year and local partisans were still optimistic concerning the award.

Determination of a convention site, however, may hinge on the outcome of the race for national commander to succeed Frank Belgrano Jr., of San Francisco.

When the Legion assembled here Sunday, there were nine candidates in the field for this post. In the next three days, a series of "horse trading" conferences narrowed the prospects to two, J. Ray Murphy, of Iowa, and Harry W. Colmery, of Kansas.

Bonus Recommendation. The resolutions committee, which has been working furiously through 736 proposed platform planks, was expected to turn in an almost complete report during the day.

Among the recommendations forthcoming from it are expected to be one for immediate cash payment of the veterans-bonus without speed (Continued On Page Two)

The convention was one of the most interesting yet held by the state body and was largely attended.

Grand Jury May Probe Death Of Evelyn Hoey, And Coroner's Jury Also

(International News Service)

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 25.—A grand jury investigation of both the mysterious shooting of Evelyn Hoey, Broadway singer—which a coroner's jury decided was done by a "person or persons unknown"—and of the conduct of the coroner's jury itself during the inquest, was expected to be requested here today by District Attorney William E. Parke.

On apparently reliable authority it was learned Parke planned to demand a secret investigation into the shooting of the actress on the farm of Henry Huddleston Rogers, III, near Downingtown, September 11. Parke also was expected to suggest an inquiry of relations between the inquest juryman and certain newspapermen be conducted.

League Opinion Is That Haile Selassie Has Made Mistake

LEAGUE TO MEET ON THURSDAY

Momentous Decision To Be Made On Italian-Ethiopian Controversy

By HUDSON HAWLEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

GENEVA, Sept. 25.—Emperor Haile Selassie's order for a general mobilization of Ethiopian tribesmen today was considered a grave mistake in most League of Nations circles today.

The move, reported here in news dispatches, was regarded as risking prejudicing Ethiopia's case, which hitherto had been considered stronger than Italy's under the league covenant.

However, it was not believed likely to change the situation immediately, because the mobilization had been expected for some time.

Delay Hostilities. Despite Ethiopia's mobilization, one high league official told International News Service he did not expect hostilities to break out before the middle of October. It was pointed out that although the end of the Ethiopian rainy season is at hand, the ground will not be dry enough (Continued On Page Two)

Republicans Are Meeting

Optimism In Ranks As Leaders Gather At Washington

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Brimming with confidence over their chances of defeating President Roosevelt next year, but blank as to possible candidates, the stalwarts of the Republican party gathered here today in their first organization meeting since the disastrous rout of 1934 which saw the Democrats increase their top-heavy majorities in both houses of congress.

The occasion brought to Washington the executive committee of the Republican National Committee, numbering some 22 men and women, under the chairmanship of National Chairman Henry P. Fletcher. By common consent, Fletcher will continue in his post until after the Republican national convention of next year. Then the Republican nominees for the presidency will choose his own chairman.

Today's meeting was for organization purposes. Principally discussion of party finances, and to lay the organization groundwork for next year.

BRUNOS TO SEEK NEW TRIALS

Seven Facing Prison Terms

Convicted As Result Of Kelayres Massacre Last Year

SET OCTOBER 29 AS APPEAL DATE

(International News Service)
POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 25.—New trial arguments for all seven members of the Joseph Bruno clan facing prison terms for convictions in the Kelayres massacre today were set down for October 29.

The motion for a new trial was made immediately after the jury of eight men and four women returned verdicts late yesterday finding all defendants guilty of murder in the last of the counts against them.

Joseph Bruno, former county detective and his brother Philip, former Kline township tax collector, were found guilty of first degree murder, the jury stipulating life imprisonment. The other defendants were convicted of second degree murder. They were Joseph's two sons, James and Alfred; Philip's son, Arthur, and two nephews, Paul Bruno and Anthony Orlando.

As the verdicts were read in an almost empty courtroom, Joseph and Philip, the only members of the clan previously convicted, wept openly. The other defendants displayed no emotion. Judge Benjamin Jones, Wilkes-Barre, dismissed the jury with the thanks for "a very good verdict" as Philip Bruno shouted.

The convictions were on the murder count growing out of the death of William Forke, one of five Democratic parades moved down by a cross-fire of bullets the commonwealth charged poured from the homes of Joseph and Philip Bruno on election eve last year. The two Bruno homes are located diagonally across the street at Kelayres' principal intersection.

In previous trials on other murder counts, Joseph Bruno was convicted of second degree murder in three deaths and of manslaughter in one and Philip Bruno of manslaughter in four deaths. The others were acquitted in a joint trial with Philip.

Apparently the shooting is a matter of mystery to the jury and needs further investigation," Parke declared. "That investigation will be made."

Meanwhile, Rogers and Kelly, each discharged from $2500 bail, were reported to have returned to New York on the promise of defense counsel to produce them "instantly" at the request of county authorities.

FLOYD GIBBONS IN EAST AFRICA

sands of tons of unfriendly dynamite now maneuvering under and over the eastern Mediterranean. I honestly believe neither Italy nor Britain desire to fight another, but the naval, submarine, aerial and land forces of both nations are dangerously courting one another on the eastern Mediterranean.

Alexandria harbor is so full of British warships, aircraft carriers and submarines there hardly was room for our flying boat to land on the water. The same condition of tense, alert preparedness is evident in all Italian and British ports and harbors.

Tensely Watching.
Each side is tensely watching the other as in a wild west saloon full of fighting men with guns drawn and fingers on triggers. Peace depends upon the lights not going out and on nobody bumping into anybody, either intentionally or unintentionally.

I fear the unintentional more than the intentional because I repeat that Italy and Britain do not desire war. An Italian commercial plane with three Wright motors brought me here this morning from Khartoum in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. One hour after crossing the Sudan border into Eritrea I looked down from an altitude of 9,000 feet on a long ribbon of straight and modern Roman roads and deep green valleys bisecting a high plateau winding around a grey rocky buttress of mountain peaks.

Down in the valleys long low clouds of dust looked like a stream rising from endless lines of motor trucks loaded with thousands of tons of supplies moving southward from Asmara.

War Planes in Air.
Italian war planes were taking the air from numerous airdromes, training patrols for war. In landings at the air base I observed intense activity in the barracks and ammunition dumps, and also heavy traffic over excellent roads of thousands of white and black workers going into Asmara, where I was surprised to find concrete streets and white-uniformed native traffic cops with tall red fez cocked jauntily above their ebony faces.

There were modern buildings of stone and cement sidewalks, white children bound for school, Italian mothers with their inevitable baby carriages crowded the streets and shops crowded with military and civilian blacks and whites in all manner of uniform and attire from African night gowns to European derbies and Parisian parasols.

After the humid heat of the Nile valley the brisk clear air of this military headquarters high above sea level has made itself into surprising energy and hustling activity on all sides. My first dispatch, which now goes on the radio to America, while I hunt for an interpreter and find officials to give my credentials.

Some Observations.
Notes while flying from Rome: A little news stand girl ascends to the airport and sends love and kisses to Sam Insull.

Tell Two-Gun Murphy King Tut-an-khamen's tomb at Luxor is closed on account of the rainy season. The pyramids will remain untouched in case of war because the Egyptians believe them to be the best shelter from air bombs yet devised.

Tell Sam Insull the electric lights are turned off in the tomb of the late Rameses the Great, proving no matter how "late" you are, you can't be that way with the electric light company.

Tell Secretary of State Hull I located that street. Hoover talked about in the last campaign. It is located in ancient Thebes, and grass is growing in it.

Tell Geneva what this African and European war threat needs is a good five-cent laugh on all sides. Many a smile has stopped a fight.

MINERS' STRIKE WAGE DISPUTE NOT YET SETTLED

one was expected in post haste since the only stumbling block is over a mere penny and a half in the wage scale for piece work diggers.

The operators agreed to increase the scale for these workers 7 1/2 cents a ton. The union "split the difference" its previous demand for 15 cents and is holding out for nine cents.

For three days now neither side has budged from its own figure.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, said the 5-cent-increase in the scale for tonnage workers is necessary to bring their pay proportionately upward to what already was agreed upon for other workers "and the operators can take it or leave it."

The negotiating committee, composed of Philip Murray, vice president of the union and Van A. Bitner, president of the southern West Virginia district, for miners, and Charles O'Neill and L. T. Putnam, for the operators, returned to their deliberations today. All day yesterday they were in session and when they recessed at 11 p. m. they reported they had failed to reach an agreement.

MOBILIZATION IN ETHIOPIA COMPLICATION

for Italian advances for several weeks more.

The league council's consideration of the East African crisis was complicated today by the failure of the complete Ethiopian memorandum replying to the Italians' charges to arrive here. This had been promised by Addis Ababa, but was not forthcoming.

The council's committee of five did not have to go into the complaints of both parties, but merely had to suggest bases for a settlement, whereas the council itself, now that it has the problem back in its lap, must probe into the complaints and delve into all aspects of the question before recommending action.

Italy Suggests Mandate
The report of the committee of five, made public today, revealed Italy had branded Ethiopia a "special and dangerous enemy" and had openly suggested she be given a mandate over the African country, or at least over the important parts of it. The hint for a mandate was contained in Baron Pompeo Aloisi's remarks to the committee in rejecting its proposed solution.

A kind of dress rehearsal of tomorrow's important council session, at which one of the most momentous decisions in league history must be taken, was held today as council leaders informally discussed the procedure to be followed tomorrow. The council then must act upon its committee's report.

The council, it was learned, probably will appoint a drafting committee to prepare a report on the basis of Article XV of the league covenant. Under this Ethiopia's acceptance of the proposed settlement and Italy rejection would be noted, and recommendations would be made.

It was understood the drafters of the report would be one from each of the countries represented on the council in order to make the whole body share the responsibility instead of confining them to a smaller body, such as the committee of five.

The council will meet privately at 10:30 a. m. tomorrow and the public session will be held considerably later.

COMMUNISM IS ASSAILED

L. Beckman, of Dubuque, Ia., as celebrant, was marked by the message brought to the children by Patrick Cardinal Hayes, outstanding individual figure of the congress.

Subject of former Governor Smith's address was "Communism or Communismism." The glowing tribute of "foremost Catholic layman of this generation" was paid to him by Joseph Scott, Los Angeles lawyer of an opposite political affiliation.

It was Scott who nominated Herbert Hoover for the presidency in the 1932 Republican convention.

Smith did not attempt to deal with the economic features of the movement, because, he said, "I do not understand them and I never met anybody that did."

Deal With Results
"It is tragic to be a slave," Smith said, "but it can be endured. It is tragic to be hungry, but if one is deprived of food it can be endured. But the greatest tragedy of all is to suffer slavery and hunger in silence, and such is the case in Russia."

"If I'm a communist I am no longer a man. I have lost my identity. I acquire wealth for the state. I cannot acquire wealth for myself in my old age, nor for my family. I must believe that there is no God, that there is no hereafter, that everything ends at the grave."

He presented as a contrasting picture "the advantages of communismism."

"Communismism," he asserted, "makes us all brothers under the skin. Communism makes men simply brothers because they happen to be both engaged in working for the state. Communismism enables fulfillment of the Lord's word to love your enemies. The communist can't do that because of his teachings."

Let us with all vigor reaffirm at this great Eucharistic Congress that by the teachings of our holy mother church, that only by constant Eucharistic communion can we have peace and happiness in the world and life beyond the grave."

Drexler Given His Release On Bond Of $10,000

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 25.—Charged as an accessory in the murder of Mrs. Martha Westwood, constable Tim Drexler today was released from jail under $10,000 bond by common pleas court judge Thomas M. Marshall.

The petition for a writ of habeas corpus, filed by his attorney William H. Coleman, asserted there was no evidence which proved Drexler was in McKees Rocks, the scene of the murder, the time of the killing. On the other hand, the petition stated all evidence indicated Drexler was at a roadhouse during the hour when Mrs. Westwood was killed.

James J. Westwood, justice of the peace and husband of the victim, was held in jail on a formal charge of murder.

The spokesman thus attempted to clear up the confused situation created by the words of the communiqué stating Premier Mussolini "discussed the possibilities of the development of the situation on the basis of some of the articles of the League covenant and the attitude Italy will assume according to circumstances."

This clause was generally interpreted as a hint Italy would like to propose or have proposed that she be given a mandate over Ethiopia, as could be done under the covenant, or that Il Duce discussed with his cabinet what Italy would do in the event the League powers acted under the covenant to apply sanctions against her as an aggressor.

Sherman told in detail of his plot to get rid of his wife, mother of their two babies, so that he could pursue an ardent love affair with Esther Magill, a big, wholesome looking girl of 17, who worked in the same factory with Sherman.

The confession details show how he hired a canoe and took his trusting "love feast" with her. She didn't come back from that ride, the confession states, because he upset the canoe and left her to drown, 300 feet from shore.

In fighting admission of the confession, Sherman reverted to his original story that the drowning was an accident.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks lunk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

BALDWIN CLASS HAS DINNER AND PROGRAM

Tuesday evening's gathering of the Baldwin Bible class in the Highland U. P. church was of extraordinary interest from the opening to the close.

Perhaps the most striking presentation of the evening was the showing of baby pictures of the Baldwin members on a special moving picture screen arranged for this purpose.

This attraction was in charge of Mrs. E. L. Thompson, who had collected the photographs. She was assisted by Mrs. Thompson, who flashed the photos on the screen.

Of course, a guessing contest was in order, but few of the guesses submitted were correct.

Preceding the program a delicious tureen dinner had been enjoyed at 6:30 o'clock. There were 72 at the table.

Mrs. Fred Hahnorth presided after dinner. Mrs. Roy Graham was in charge of devotions.

EAST BROOK CLUB PLANS COUNTY DAY

At their lovely home overlooking the Neshannock creek, Mrs. Merle Stetson and Miss Shirley Stetson were hostesses to members of the East Brook Garden club for their September meeting Tuesday evening.

The president, Mrs. Lillian Johns, presided over the business session, which was mainly taken up with plans for entertaining the Garden clubs for the county October 10. A special vote of thanks was extended to all persons who contributed to the success of the recent flower show. Arrangements are being made for a Halloween party, also a pilgrimage to the state national park of West Virginia, a little later in the fall.

Mrs. Louise Black had charge of the program, introducing Miss Shirley Stetson, who gave a very interesting talk on leaves. Lovely fall flowers were used throughout the house in decorations and the members were privileged to view many unusual plants from the greenhouse of Miss Stetson.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. Afterwards, Mrs. Katherine Kerr, who has moved to West Wilmington, was surprised with a shower of dainty handkerchiefs as a token of friendship from the other members of the club.

COLORFUL TALK GIVEN AT JUNIOR B. P. W. MEET

The social gathering held Tuesday evening by members of the Junior Business and Professional Women's Club at a North street tavern, proved one of the most delightful events ever undertaken by this distinguished organization.

Festivities opened with the serving of a tasty dinner in the dining room at tables elegantly arranged. Following, the group adjourned to an upstairs room, where the feature of the evening took place, Miss Lucille Emery, president, presided, and she introduced the program chairman, Miss Kathryn Anderson, who in turn introduced their guest speaker, Miss Theodore Pollock, teacher of W. N. Aiken school.

Miss Pollock, a member of a local group of women who attended the Business and Professional Women's Convention held at Seattle, Washington, this summer, gave a most interesting and colorful description of their experiences. She carried her audience along without effort, in her vivid descriptions of their trip to Alaska, telling of the route they took, being that which the late Will Rogers and Wiley Post met their fate, two weeks later, included in her colorful speech, she expressed the impressions of those on the party, giving a personal touch that captivated her listeners. An informal period of discussion and questions filled in a few moments of leisure that followed this inspiring address.

Miss Emery made announcement regarding a change in the date for the Junior B. P. W. bridge party to be held at The Castleton. Owing to November 5 falling on election day, the event will take place on Thursday, November 7, instead. This decision is final, and steps have already been taken to make this years party, most outstanding in every detail. The next regular gathering of the club, falls on October 8.

W. E. Club Thursday. W. E. club members will be guests Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Clarence Hollis, Huron avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Thompson, Mrs. S. Lozer, and Miss Mary Rummell, of Sharpsville, have returned after visiting Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Hille, of West Grant street.

October Has Many Special Holidays

For three of the special days the Governor annually is directed by law to issue a proclamation requesting general observance by the public and the schools. These are General Pulaski Day, Arbor and Bird Day and Penn Day.

Superintendent Ade lists the following among the special days in which schools of the State will participate this fall, with approximate activities as a part of the regular school program:

October 11—General Pulaski Day, in commemoration of the anniversary of the death of General Casimir Pulaski, Revolutionary war figure.

October 12—Columbus Day, anniversary of the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus.

October 24—Penn Day, in observance of the anniversary of the birth of William Penn.

October 27—Navy Day, Roosevelt Day anniversary of the birth of Theodore Roosevelt.

Reception For Rev. J. E. Imes On October 1

Today

port and he wants the railroad going to it from Addis Ababa to go over Italian territory.

MOTHER ENGLAND, in the language of ninety per cent of her population, does not "old" with such theories. She suspects that Mussolini is playing for time, or that he imagines himself England's equal as a land grabber.

England has made it clear that she and the League of Nations really do not want to fight. Knowing this, Mussolini who does not include "backing down" among his specialties, will probably go ahead.

WASHINGTON may be interested in the rumor that England feeling the need of better defense, plans a one billion dollar naval building program, including six battleships, thirty-six cruisers, one hundred destroyers, thirty submarines. A "national defense loan" will supply the money.

We shall not have any trouble with the British, both countries possessing all they can digest and more. But we ought to have enough airplanes to sink all the ships that anybody can build, and enough submarines to sink any that airplanes might miss.

WITH THE right air and submarine equipment, like old Fafner on his "Rhinegold," we could sleep peacefully on our ten-thousand million-dollar pile of gold.

Financiers tell you that with gold pouring in we shall surely have ten thousand million dollars worth of it soon. Much good may it do us, buried in a hole. One per cent on the buried ten billions would build up a sufficient air and submarine fleet and enable us to protect the gold.

A DIFFERENCE of a cent and a half a ton between operators and workers prevented settlement of the coal strike yesterday.

With a five-thousand-million dollar industry, 450,000 miners and 2,500,000 members of their families involved, it would seem preposterous to let a cent and a half difference prevent a settlement.

Perhaps the government will make up the difference. It might well pay the one cent and a half, for otherwise it might have to feed and otherwise "relieve" the three millions involved for a long time.

BACK AT THE White House, President Roosevelt is told that relief workers on the CCC are leaving to take private jobs at the rate of 9,000 a week. Good news for everybody, although at the rate of 9,000 a week it would take more than twenty years to put the ten millions idle at work.

The President, apparently anticipating no important war in Europe, is planning to start this Thursday for the Pacific Coast to see Boulder Dam, Los Angeles and the San Diego exposition. According to Universal Service he plans to board the Cruiser Houston at San Diego and fish for a while on the Pacific before returning through the Panama Canal.

THE SIGHT of that canal, that will keep alive the memory of his distant cousin, Theodore Roosevelt, after the gnashing teeth and the harmless verbal truisms shall have been forgotten, may add fire to President Roosevelt's already high ambition.

Perhaps he will say to himself: "When I meet Theodore he will know that I am the real Roosevelt canal builder."

Already the President has ordered a canal across Florida that will save two days on the trip from all Gulf ports to the East Coast. If President Roosevelt will now build a canal from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic on United States soil, and from those lakes through the Chicago River, the Missouri and the Mississippi River down to the Gulf, with arrangements to control, he will do more than Theodore did.

At the same time there is a special glory in uniting the world's two great oceans and that has been done. There is really very little left to do except to abolish poverty, selfishness, dishonesty, ignorance, superstition, replacing competition with emulation.

It will take more than one million years to do that.

DEWOLF HOPPER is dead at seventy-seven, too soon. He worked to the last, talked over the radio in the afternoon, and was dead at 6:30 next morning. He should find a good seat reserved for him in the entertainment that lasts forever, in a better world. He spent his life working to make people smile and forget their sorrows. That is useful work.

"noise," said the old gentleman "is anything I don't want to hear!"

HOWEVER you define it, noise is out of place in a doctor's office. If the clatter of an old-fashioned typewriter annoys healthy business men, it must be even more disturbing to your patients!

Wherever quiet is desirable, the new Remington Noiseless can be counted on to perform all writing tasks with a quiet purr that is barely audible. That is one reason why the American Medical Association recently bought 100 for their own offices.

REV. BLOOMQUIST AND FAMILY GIVEN HONOR

Of the many social activities which took place Tuesday evening, one that is outstanding and which, too, was tinged with a bit of sadness, was the reception held at the Savannah M. E. church by the membership in honor of their pastor, the Rev. V. L. Bloomquist, his wife and family, who will reside in Pleasantville, where the former has been assigned to a pastorate.

Members of the congregation numbering approximately 80 were in attendance, and at 8 o'clock, W. H. Weinschenk, who was in charge of activities, spoke words most fitting to the occasion. He filled the capacity of master of ceremonies, and led the group in singing a hymn as the opening number. Rev. R. B. Withers, who is now pastor of the Greenwood M. E. coming here from West Pittsburg, offered prayer, followed by the singing of several selected hymns with George Body, Sr., leader. Mrs. John Weir favored the group with a humorous reading, entitled "Ma and the Auto" that brought roars of laughter.

The evening was climaxed when Rev. J. A. Galbraith presented a beautiful gift to the Rev. Bloomquist family, in behalf of those assembled, giving remarks of praise and expressed regret of their leaving this vicinity. Responses of appreciation were heard from Rev. and Mrs. Bloomquist.

Rev. C. H. Hauger gave a sketch of the life of Rev. Bloomquist, outlining his work while connected with the Savannah church, and of his accomplishments with the Epworth League. He has been a faithful leader in all his undertakings, as has his wife, who has been most active with the duties of the Foreign Mission organization. Two of her intimate friends and co-workers, Meadames C. H. Hauger and J. A. Galbraith related these facts. They with Mrs. Robert Withers, shared the evening's festivities as special guests.

The evening concluded with the serving of refreshments by several of the women of the church in the dining room.

Rev. and Mrs. Bloomquist and their family will leave Friday of the approaching week to take up residence in Pleasantville in the Meadville district, where he will be pastor of the Pleasantville M. E. church. They will be greatly missed by their host of friends here, who join in wishing them success.

FAMILY DINNER HONORS BIRTHDAY

Mrs. A. W. Scott, of Whippo St., entertained in her home at a family dinner Tuesday evening, honoring her husband, W. A. Scott, the occasion marking his birthday anniversary. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bus Brown and son, Craig, of Cleveland, O. Activities were in progress at 6:30 o'clock.

The group partook of the sumptuous menu served at a large table attractively appointed in a color theme of yellow and pink. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. William Twaddle. Fall flowers were combined with the festive decorations, adding color to the setting. A collection of handsome gifts were received by the honored one, in memento of the day. Informal pastimes concluded the evening's program.

MISS WILLA CASKEY HONORED BY CLASS

Last evening, Virginia Metz entertained her Sunday school associates of Mt. Jackson United Presbyterian church, at a wienner roast at her home located on the Mt. Jackson road. The occasion doing honor to Willa Caskey, assistant teacher, who will enter nurses training at the local Jameson Memorial hospital, on October 1, was an added feature.

Fireside songs, and story telling about the huge bonfire, was a pleasant form of diversion, and at a late hour, the guests were served an appetizing menu of piping hot wieners, and ended with toasted marshmallows. The presentation of a beautiful farewell gift to Miss Caskey, concluded the evening's activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Park Metz and Etta Roberts were special guests of the occasion.

Vitale-Danish Wedding.
In the attractively arranged St. Vitus church, Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock, the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita performed an impressive wedding, when he joined together in matrimony Miss Mary Vitale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carver, of 106 Center street, and John Danish, son of Mrs. Anna Danish of 105 Terrace avenue.

The bride, gowned in white satin with flowing lines, made entrain and a long veil ending in a circle, head piece made blushing style, was given in marriage by her father. She carried an armful of Johanna Hill roses and baby breath.

Miss Elizabeth DeCarbo of 12 Matland street, one of the bride's closest friends, was maid of honor. She wore pink chiffon, a picture hat and matching accessories. She carried pink roses and blue delphiniums. Leonard Rich served as best man. Walter Smith, Jr., attired in a neat white suit, was ring bearer. Nettie Carvella, sister of the bride, was veil carrier.

STAR CHAPTER NO. 333 HOLDS FOURTH PARTY

Because the "series party plan," has met with such success in the past, members of Shenango Chapter, No. 333, Order of the Eastern Star, are again endeavoring to continue with this form of entertainment during the new season, and on Tuesday night, the fourth of these events, was held in the home of Mrs. George Weddell, on Wilmington avenue. She had as associate hostesses, Mrs. Bishop and anagrams, Mrs. P. H. Bridenbaugh and Mrs. Stan Treser.

Nine tables of cards held attention during the early part of the evening, with prizes for the various contests being won by the following: contract bridge, Mrs. John Brinton; auction bridge, Mrs. Lucille Falls; five hundred, Mrs. Bishop and anagrams, Mrs. Irene McKibben.

The guests enjoyed this period of pastime, in a setting of decorative beauty, the rooms being adorned in a profusion of choice Autumn flowers, gracing every nook and corner. Sometime this month, the fifth of the card series will be held at the residence of Mrs. L. A. Wygant, on Wilmington avenue. Mrs. C. R. Weber will be joint hostess on this occasion, further details to be made known later.

FINE PROGRAM MARKS HADASSAH MEETING

Tuesday evening Mrs. L. Groden, the new president of New Castle chapter of Hadassah, greeted members at their opening meeting of the season held in Beth Shalom Center. The first order of business was the election of a delegate and alternate to the national convention of Hadassah, to take place this year, jointly with Junior Hadassah at Thanksgiving time, in Cleveland, O. A large delegation of local members will attend these sessions. Those elected were: Mrs. L. Groden, delegate and Mrs. J. Silverman, alternate.

Reports of officers and chairmen were given, with the membership chairman, Mrs. L. Zieve, reporting the names of several new members. Mrs. L. S. An account of the regional conference held last week at the White Swan hotel in Uniontown, was read by Mrs. L. Groden.

Henry Home Ingathering October 25-26

As you put up those jars of tomatoes and preserves, set back a couple now and then and save them for October 25 and 26. The annual ingathering of the Margaret Henry Home takes place on the two days mentioned and you can't suggest a thing the home can't use.

Meeting in the Chamber of Commerce offices with Charles Read, chairman of the ingathering, a group of citizens laid plans for the work that is to be done attending such an event.

Mr. Read read a list of the materials needed for the coming winter and it includes everything from apple butter to castor oil, including linens, thread, soap, preserves or what have you?

Every citizen should be interested in the ingathering for the Margaret Henry home. The youngsters have to be fed in the cold winter days to come and if every one donates a little, the aggregate will be sufficient to keep those mouths filled in the coming months.

Announcements will be made from time to time concerning the progress of the ingathering but in the meantime, make a note of what you can spare. They can use anything.

Officials Stand On Old Ruling

Relief For Strikers Will Come
On Same Basis As Any Other Citizens

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—FERA officials today stood on a two-year old ruling on giving relief to strikers and their families, regarding relief for the families of striking bituminous coal miners.

While Harry L. Hopkins, FERA administrator, denied comment on a conference with Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady yesterday, at which McGrady urged that the 2,000,000 wives and children of the striking miners be cared for, it was announced that Hopkins would make no change in policy.

This ruling was that all applications for relief should be treated on their merits, "wholly apart from any controversy in which the wage earner may be involved."

"Unless it be determined by the department of labor that the basis for the strike is unreasonable and unjustified," the ruling stated, "the FERA authorizes local relief agencies to furnish relief to the families of striking wage earners after careful investigation has shown that their resources are not sufficient to meet emergency needs."

The ruling was made in connection with a Pennsylvania strike in July, 1933.

HOUSE SHORTAGE LOOMS IN SPRING

(International News Service)

MY NEW YORK

By JAS. ASWELL

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Potpourri: The bull market for "topical" stuff in the reviews, with a name preferred to a laugh in many instances, has caused some embarrassments. . . . For instance, in the new Beatrice Lillie show, "At Home Abroad," there was a puppet resembling Huey Long, which of course had to be yanked out of the skit when news of the assassination flashed. . . . During the run of the first all-topical hit, "As Thousands Cheer," the backers lived in a nervous tremor lest something happen to the real-life figures the piece satirized, necessitating drastic revisions overnight. . . . I think a word is in order about the curious situation which has been prevailing along Broadway for weeks—the same situation which occurs every year, yet seldom is remarked by the chattering. . . . This is rehearsal time; almost every chorus girl in town is rehearsing, whether it be a new cabaret presentation or a musical for the show-shops. . . . And they are so busy and so tired in the few hours off they get during the twenty-four that they have no time for dates. . . . As a result the boudoir scribes are driven almost frantic searching for fresh romances with which to spice their pillars. . . . But along about October 1, with many of the entertainments safely set, the lassies will emerge once more to love and love. . . . The peepholes will unlimber their typewriters and all will be well in Fifty-Second street. . . . The Village Barn continues to astonish this reporter whenever he peers into its hokumy glooms. . . . Year after year the place extracts its percentage of the tourist dollar while more elaborate temples of hilarity rise and fall. . . . I looked in there the other night and found half a hundred of the customers playing a pleasantly rowdy game with chairs around which they marched and into which they flopped exuberantly. . . . Credit is due anyone who can induce people to pay him for the privilege of amusing themselves. . . . Chinatown is rejoicing in such a tourist season as the sector has not had in years. . . . Souvenir bazaars in Mott and Pell streets have a prosperous air and the sleekly smiling proprietors wait upon you with an air of restrained confidence; you are no longer urged to buy or encouraged to haggle in most shops. . . . New bullet holes are being installed to pop the eyes of visitors to the "long dens" and "opium hells" of a vague but sufficiently sinister past. . . . The purchase most frequently made by tourists is a bottle of one of the awesome Chinese liquors for sale only in the neighborhood—brows made with tiger bones and dragons' teeth. . . . A pleasant gift for Aunt Maggie back home. . . . The chorus boy returns to his own this year all over town—for reasons too obscure for me to plumb. . . . Time was, a little ago, when it began to seem that the handsomely marcelled lads were vanishing like the horse. . . . But the new revues, notably "Jubilee," in which the boys romp in bathing trunks, have returned to chorus boy tradition. . . . And now I find that the new girly-girl hoopla now being polished up afternoons at the Hollywood, that elaborate titillator of eye, ear and taste buds, has half a dozen husky young men practicing steps along with the nymphs of the chorus. . . . It is the first time, as far as I know, that chorus boys have ever appeared in a night club show.

Sale Being Held At Boyles Home

Personal Property Of The Late
David C. Boyles Being
Sold At Auction

Personal property, consisting of house furnishings, belonging to the late David C. Boyles, is being sold by the executor today at the old Boyles mansion adjoining the court house. Doris Fulkman, auctioneer, is offering the furnishings piece by piece.

Interest in the sale was evinced by a large crowd which gathered in front of the mansion at the opening of the sale. The front porch was filled with people and the lawn in front of the house for a distance of some twenty feet back.

Bidding on most of the articles offered was quite lively at times, and as a rule, fair prices were realized. Some of the articles sold were in the antique class, having been in the family for many years.

The Boyles property has been vacant since the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Boyles. It is expected that it will be sold, and the County of Lawrence, is likely to be a bidder. The county has wanted the property for many years, but during his lifetime Mr. Boyles was not disposed to sell it and would not put a price on it.

If it could be obtained by the county at a reasonable price, the building could be utilized for offices, and the grounds for parking purposes. Nearly, if not all of the offices for which the county is now paying rent in the down town district could be moved into the Boyles building, and the rent which is now being paid would probably cover the carrying charges on the property, it is said.

CALL TO ARMS IS HEARD IN ETHIOPIA

War Drums Boom Through Nation

Three Days Without Rain
Signal For Mobilization
Of Ethiopians

NO WRITTEN EDICT
NEEDED BY NATIVES

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)
ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 25.—Imperial war drums today boomed the order for general mobilization throughout Ethiopia.

The call to arms came as Addis Ababa entered the third day without rain, confirming the end of the rainy season that will make it possible for Italy's war machine to move.

For the first time since the beginning of this Italo-Ethiopian quarrel, for the first time since Menelik called his warriors to fight the Italians in 1896, the emperor left his war drums roll, to tell the tribesmen in the only language they understood that war is at hand.

This is an official mobilization. It requires no written edict, and so far as is known none has been issued. But it is the only real mobilization that is recognized by the tribesmen.

Since Premier Mussolini is confidently expected to begin war without a declaration, this country felt justified in mobilizing without announcement.

Italy calls this no war, but a

"colonial episode," so Ethiopia calls it: mobilization no mobilization but just the sounding of the negarit.
Addis Ababa, however, was deeply disappointed the emperor did not pitch a red war tent on Mount Entoto and from there give the capital the thrill of hearing the negarit.
That may come, but probably only when the Italians actually attack. Addis Ababa is convinced the rains have practically ceased. There not only has been no rain for three days, but the wind now bends the tall, dark groves of eucalyptus, and when the wind comes, the rains are according to the native weather prophets. At any rate, there can only be a few more showers.

President Says Continuance Of N.R.A. Justified

Declares 2700 Employees Are Engaged In Surveys At Present

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—President Roosevelt today justified continuance of the skeleton NRA by pointing out it was now engaged in many surveys to ascertain what effect, if any, code abandonment had upon industry.

If industry can go along without codes, that is satisfactory to the government, the president said, but if the chiseling fringe is continuing to make trouble for honest industry something should be done to remedy the situation.

What might be done would depend in a large measure upon what industry proposes itself, Mr. Roosevelt declared.

The president denied that a top-heavy payroll still prevailed at NRA. He said only about 2,700 employees are now on the rolls and that this number will soon be cut to 2,000.

He pointed out that 900 field workers are busy on the survey. They have been instructed to ascertain where industry is still voluntarily living up to the code and also how far "chiselers" have been able to cut in on such efforts.

The president expressed the opinion that 90 per cent of industry has no desire to work employees 72 hours a week at sweatshop wages or employ children, but recognizes that this great bulk of employers is confronted with unfair competition.

BAER ADMITS HE'S THROUGH

Expect To Retire To Cattle Ranch In West—"Terrible Headache"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Badly battered, but still able to lead with his vocal chords, Max Baer today went a few windy rounds with reporters, and finished surprisingly strong.

"I never was cut out for a fighter, but thank God, I can still talk," said Maxie.

"I'm through as a fighter. Nothing can get me back through the ropes, but I've got a little ranch out there pointing in the general direction of California, a ranch of 5,000 acres with 500 head of the prettiest white-faced cattle you ever saw."

"Think of all the people eating meat, some of them twice a day." Max warned to his subject. "Look at the money I'll make in the cattle business. There's millions in it."

Baer's face was badly swollen, his right thumb enlarged and the knuckle of his left hand had "water in it."

"I had a terrible headache last night," said Max, "but I'm feeling pretty good today. I jumped right out of bed to do road work from habit."

Asked once more why he did not get up in the fourth round, Max replied:

"Get up? I thought all Harlem was in there against me. All I could see was just one black cloud—and this ray of sunshine couldn't penetrate it."

Ellwood Will Be Handicapped For Game Saturday

Luxenberg And Miller To Be Out Of Line-Up Besides Injured Frisk

SCHILL TO SPRING DECEPTIVE OFFENSE

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25.—Hard work until dark has fallen the lot of the Ellwood City high grid squad the past two days as they began preparations for the invasion of Butler on next Saturday. This has become a double necessity. Besides the new offense Coach "Denny" Schill plans to spring, Ellwood will be without the services of three valuable men.

The loss of Nick Frisk, star guard, for the rest of the season because of an injury, was bad enough. But since then it is known that two more regulars will be unable to play. Dave Luxenberg, quarterback, and Francis Miller, guard, who was slated to fill Frisk's shoes will not be able to play because of a Jewish holiday. Therefore the long sessions the past two days. These will probably continue today and tomorrow.

Coach Schill plans to spring a fast deceptive offense on the heavy Butler team. Several more tricks will be unleashed at this time. Perry has been receiving the call for the one vacant guard position. Rocco and Gibb are also being groomed. George Robuck and "Russia" Punari have been alternating at the quarterback post. The latter is usually sent in for any position in the backfield that may arise necessary.

Coach Heinzer at Butler is also leaving some worries, his regular left half-back, the fleet Frankie Webster, will probably be out of the line-up because of a knee injury. Webster, who received this injury early in the season, had it aggravated last Friday at New Castle. The locals will have to keep their eyes peeled for Ross, who is a streak of lightning on the gridiron.

The Alumni will again give the varsity a workout this afternoon.

Clever Portrayal Is Given By Large Cast At Shelby Auditorium Tuesday

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 25.—A fine appreciative audience witnessed the play "It's A Knockout," sponsored by the V. of F. W. auxiliary of this city, on Tuesday evening at the Shelby auditorium.

A notable presentation was given by a large home talent cast. Miss Rosemary McCandless, Samuel Turner, Mrs. Vera Reasman, C. H. His sister, Josie (Mrs. Reasman) aids in the plan. When Bob returns home he brings with him two friends, Spike Maloney (Mr. Steinberger) and Fred Saunders (Mr. Cox).

Considerable humor is brought into the play by lispings winsome Winnie (Miss Thomas), Sara and Miriam (Mrs. Grannis and Mrs. Koach), two newsy and noisy old maids, Caleb Harper (Mr. Brophy), a typical old Indian. The audience was in stitches when Spike Maloney attempted to tell an American joke to Lord Ruffington Claypool Allerton Beasley (Harold Burns). Lyman Ross, the meanest man in town, is played by Mr. Luman. Bob's father is played by Mr. Patterson. Mrs. Robert Crawford accompanied at the piano.

Those in the chorus were: Betty Jane Crowe, Maryland Neff, Jean Wallace, Maxine Miller, Helen McKee, Doris Shirley, Sylvia Wainstein, Jean Bleakney, Letha Barringer, Virginia Eitel, Emma Cavaller, Helen Vollrath, Anna Gottuso, Ruth Haswell, Margaret Cable, Sara Howell, Betty Jane Wilson, Kathryn Menicue, Helen Copits, Helen Steele, Eleanor Sokolsky, Rose Metz, Alice Lefevre, Hazel Pitts, Dorothy Spare, Mary Ann Fehl, Patty Turner, Mary Louise Menicue, Kathryn Krah, Alberta Rape, Bessie Hall, Gertie Cragle, Betty Gerhard, Viola Houk, Jean Kingston, Mildred Cable, Edna Donbeck, Ida Van Eman, Blanche Means, Jean Hodgson, Peggy Hodgson, Doris Houk, Anne Atkinson and Dorothy Hinkle.

New York's Harlem Acclaims Joe Louis

Wild Celebration In Harlem Last Night Following Louis' Victory

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The Harlem black belt was recovering today from a wild celebration and general high-de-ho that followed in the wake of Joe Louis' knockout victory over Max Baer at the Yankee Stadium last night.

From One Hundred and Tenth street north to One Hundred Forty-Fifth street, Harlem was din and confusion from the moment Louis was declared the winner until the grey steamers of dawn appeared in the eastern sky.

Millions of thousands of Negro men, women and children paraded joyously through the streets, singing, blowing horns, rattling cowbells and pounding deliriously on pots and pans.

Despite their happiness the Harlemites were well-mannered and orderly and the 300 odd extra policemen who had been assigned to the district to see that the peace was kept had little to do.

Soon after midnight the principal Harlem thoroughfares were jammed and traffic was at a standstill. In Seventh avenue, it was estimated, 50,000 Negroes danced and sang in Lenox avenue there were about 25,000.

20,000 HEAR POPE'S LEGATE DECLARE REVERENCE UPHOLDS POWER OF BALLOT

PATRICK CARDINAL HAYES

JAMES A. FARLEY

BISHOP SCHREMS

Patience, born of reverence and religion, is the spirit that has made the United States a country that turns to the ballot box instead of bloody revolution in times of stress. Patrick Cardinal Hayes of New York told 20,000 that jammed public hall in Cleveland to welcome him as legate of Pope Pius XI at the seventh National Eucharistic Congress. The cardinal is pictured during his address. Postmaster General James A. Farley, shown at right with Bishop Joseph Schrems of Cleveland, also spoke. Farley read a message from President Roosevelt in which the president said that social justice and economic liberty are born out of conferences and religious assemblies in which a power greater than self predominates and conquers instincts of personal and corporate selfishness.

JOE LOUIS STOPS MAX BAER IN FOURTH

FORMER CHAMPION SADLY OUTCLASSED

Detroit Bomber Takes Lead At Start—Bell Saves Baer In Third Round—Floored For Last Time With Right To Jaw In Fourth Round—Counted Out On One Knee.

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—His face was the mask of comedy in bas-relief on a theatre facade. It was cast, perhaps beyond control, in a strange distortion, the unreal grimace of a pronounced buffoon who suffers mortal hurt. He knelt as though in prayer. It was the end.

Max Adelbert Baer, the man who had known a degree of greatness as the heavyweight champion, was in the act of petitioning leniency in the sight of all late in the fourth round at the Yankee stadium last night. It wasn't so much a knockout as a surrender, not altogether abject, perhaps, but still definite, final, absolute.

Joe Louis, the great negro heavyweight, had given an exhibition of boxing, hitting and, at times, punch-taking that marked him for posterity ahead of all the great fighters that ever lived and now, with ten seconds left of the fourth round, he was the winner by acclamation among more than 90,000 voices, including Baer's. The latter quitted obviously while it so.

Braggart Humbled

By that time sodden with his own glee, he was a ghastly caricature of the assured and bumptious playboy from the night life of a nation. He had been hacked and battered and spattered and spent. There was a delusion that the man had the courage of a crocodile and would expire, if ever, in the midst of the darkness, came the finish for one fighter who thought he was great and the beginning for another who really is. Louis, the negro who punches three different ways, all of them perfectly, with two different hands, is not the first negro heavyweight champion of the world today since Jack Johnson for only one reason. He has yet to catch up with champion James J. Braddock and the pursuit may be a lengthy one.

Braddock was among the horrified witnesses last night but his immediate whereabouts today are not certain, owing to the fact that he neglected to post a man to watch all outgoing trans-Atlantic steamers.

So, dramatically to those nearby and with a sense of deep chagrin to others further back across the sea of human heads off there in the darkness, came the finish for one fighter who thought he was great and the beginning for another who really is. Louis, the negro who punches three different ways, all of them perfectly, with two different hands, is not the first negro heavyweight champion of the world today since Jack Johnson for only one reason. He has yet to catch up with champion James J. Braddock and the pursuit may be a lengthy one.

Braddock was among the horrified witnesses last night but his immediate whereabouts today are not certain, owing to the fact that he neglected to post a man to watch all outgoing trans-Atlantic steamers.

So, dramatically to those nearby and with a sense of deep chagrin to others further back across the sea of human heads off there in the darkness, came the finish for one fighter who thought he was great and the beginning for another who really is. mouthed and hands down, in a neutral corner. He was still there, helpless to avert this tragedy, when the kindly bell came to his aid.

That was one time when Louis, consciously or otherwise, elected to play the other man's game and get away with it. The second time practically finished the other man. In between, there was a profusion of left leads by Louis in the second round and an overhead right that hurt Baer all way back to his ancestors.

Drives Louis To Ropes.

And then just at the finish of the round, he scored. A right to the chin caught Louis going the wrong way and he was driven into the ropes so hard that he rebounded just at the bell. Baer wouldn't stop with this chance to effect a coup de grace and kept punching until they pulled him off.

The third round saw Baer again maneuver Louis into a slugging fight and himself into disaster. The round opened innocently enough with Louis in retreat for the first time since I have seen him box.

"Go in and punch," shouted Jack Dempsey from the corner. But Baer wouldn't or, at least, didn't. If he had any chance, it was gone now.

Suddenly, they were together and swinging punches faster than the eye could follow. Baer landed hard with a left hook but Louis countered terrifically with both hands and then brought a right to the jaw.

Baer Goes Down.

Baer was on his knees. He wished to indicate that everything was just splendid, so he waved his right hand either to his corner or to imaginary friends at the ringside. He got up at nine and was down again under two blistering left hooks, down apparently to stay. But the bell saved him.

The fourth round was just a formality, because of certain fundamental changes that had taken place in the primitive but utterly lucid reason of this bright and engaging young man. Baer did not interest him. Mr. Maximilian Adelbert Baer, former champion of all the heavyweights, no longer wished to be saved.

For purposes of the record, a right cross did it. By way of addendum, it was the first knockout suffered by Baer, the 21st scored by Louis in 27 professional fights. And this time the victim seemed grotesquely to smile. Sometimes the unadorned fact covers at least a brief moment of tragedy.

CATHOLICS HAVE POWERFUL TEAM

What promises to develop into one of the strongest independent grid combinations in the city, is the Catholic eleven which opened the season a few days ago with a startling 7-6 victory over Shenango.

Leo Orelli, former Ben Franklin star, was hurt and will be out of the lineup for a few weeks. Amabile, Turco, Conglose, are outstanding griders. The Catholics oppose the Kelsos, Sunday afternoon, on the Rosena grounds.

Cards Defeat Pirates, 11-2

New York Giants Win Two Games; Are Playing Championship Ball

LEFTY GROVE WINS TWENTIETH VICTORY

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Somewhat tardily, the New York Giants are beginning to play championship baseball. Against the Phillies at the Polo grounds yesterday, the Terrymen won both ends of a twin bill, 6-0 and 7-6. In the first game, the Giants pounded Curt Davis (free), while young Al Smith helped himself to a shut-out, limiting the visitors to nine hits. Smith added to the mayhem with a four bagger. C. H. hit his 31st of the year and Al Cuccinello also connected for a homer.

In the final Schumacher and Gabler rescued hurlers Stout and Castelman in a ding-dong affair which was not settled until the Phils tumbled the Giants into their final tally in the ninth.

Still fighting for the National league spotlight, the Cards walloped the Pirates at St. Louis, 11 to 2. Wild Bill Hallahan held the Pittsburgh sluggers to three hits. At Brooklyn, the Dodgers took two from the Braves, 5 to 3 and 6-5.

In the American league the Yankees bested the Senators 14 to 6, as Johnny Broaca held the home club to nine hits to hang up his 15th win of the year. The champion Detroiters lost to Cleveland, 14 to 7. The Red Sox handed a double dose to the Athletics, 8 to 2 and 6-5. Lefty Grove was credited with No. 20 when he won the opener. The seventh place Browns beat the White Sox twice 3-0 and 6 to 3.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

The American doubles champions, John Van Ryn of Philadelphia and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, won the Pacific Southwest tennis championship Tuesday when they beat Donald Budge, Oakland, Calif., and Gene Mako, Glendale, Calif., 7-6, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

Deacon Litz has been engaged to start the auto races at Junction park, New Brighton, Saturday night. The events will begin at 8 p. m. and are being staged by the National Night Racing association for the benefit of the Beaver County Firemen's association. Among the score or more drivers who have entered cars is Deb Snyder, tri-state champion.

The Louis-Baer fight is over. Louis won. Since embarking on his career he has committed no act and said no word that would cause a finger to be pointed at him. The better man won and the victory did not smack of any taint whatsoever.

ever. According to Harvey Boyle, Louis won so easy that there was only about 30 seconds of the fight, about the middle of the first round that Baer, in any way resembled the Baer that had beaten down Schmeling and annihilated Carnera. Louis was too smart and had too many bombs exploding for Baer who was counted out while on a knee.

Artie McGovern, one of the world's most famous students of physical condition and a veteran boxing authority in writing of last night's fight for the I. N. S., in a copyright article says of Baer after he went down in the fourth: "You hear murmurs—He's quit. He won't get up. I say Baer didn't quit. He couldn't get up. It was a physical impossibility for him to raise his body. His reflexes just wouldn't respond to the dictates of that determined will. He was a helpless, beaten, hulk. I don't think he knew whether he was in Yankee Stadium or Podunk while the referee counted him out. If Baer had strength enough left in him he would have shown it. There would still have been a smile. No matter how badly he might have been hurt. There was no smile."

Pittsburgh Pirates will play the Chicago Bears at Pittsburgh, Sunday. The Bears won the Professional grid title in 1932-33 only to lose it to the New York Giants in 1934.

More than 90,000 persons watched the fight in Yankee stadium in New York City. This fight heralded the return of the million-dollar gate to the fistie world.

Work Relief Fund Allocations Are Near Completion

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Substantially all of the $4,000,000,000 work relief fund will have been allocated or earmarked before President Roosevelt leaves Washington tomorrow night, the executive declared today at his final press conference.

Among allotments he intends to approve sometime within the next 24 hours is one for $200,000,000 to Secretary of Interior Ickes for a series of limited public works projects. Under conditions laid down by the president these projects must be completed within a year, and must cost not more than $850 per man and as a result they will consist largely of school buildings and water works.

Police Tow Away Federal Autos

Philadelphia Police Take Cars Of Federal Agents Is Complaint Made

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—The spirit of camaraderie between Philadelphia police and Uncle Sam's government investigators was shattered here today—and all because U. S. agents charged the police insist on towing away federal automobiles for illegal parking.

Not only that, declared R. George Harvey, chief of the local federal bureau, but Philadelphia police seem to have a penchant for nabbing his agents' cars just at the wrong time.

"Many times our investigations have been slowed up and our men inconvenienced," he fumed. At least twice, he added, government cars were towed off streets while their owners were intent on making arrests.

Police Superintendent Joseph LeStrange turned a deaf ear to Harvey's protests.

"The Philadelphia police department will show no favoritism and don't care if the cars are owned by the government," he announced.

Dempsey Tells What He'd Do

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—It takes greatness to recognize greatness.

A few moments after Joe Louis knocked out Max Baer last night, Davis J. Walsh, International News Service sports editor, encountered Jack Dempsey, who had served as Baer's second.

"What are you going to do with a fellow like that Louis?" Walsh asked.

The famous Manassas mauler merely shrugged his shoulders. "What would you do if, at your best you had to fight this fellow?" Walsh asked.

"I'd throw a punch and duck," the ex-champ answered with a grin.

Heavyweight Title Is At Louis' Mercy

Only James Braddock Is Now Standing In Path Of Coveted Title

By HYPE IGEOE
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Joe Louis, today, seems to have the world's heavyweight title at his mercy with only showman Jim Braddock standing in his path the title must eventually come to him because even game Braddock's most rabid admirer could scarcely give Jimmy a ghost of a chance against the Brown bomber.

He butchered Max Baer in less than four rounds on Yankee field and save for Levinsky-slap-see-doo at Chicago it was, from amateur to professional adventure, his easiest fight.

Baer didn't give him twenty seconds' torment and as Joe himself said in the dressing room, "the hardest punch landed was after the bell had ended the second round."

Louis' victory was as neat as a pin, brilliant in execution and devilish in its complete befuddling of Baer and any of the battle plans he may have conjured in his harum-scarum mind. For one thing, when he found Baer reluctant to essay any of the promised bull-in-the-china-shop charging, he deliberately "crossed up" Baer by knocking him cuckoo with rights to the jaw instead of the highly touted left hooks which have become the big bad wolves of fistiana.

Two Small Girls Struck By Autos

Two children were struck yesterday by automobiles in different sections of the city but fortunately neither was injured, according to reports made to police by operators of the motor cars.

Warren Working Hard For Contest

Pierre Hill Pushes Squad In Preparation For Game Here Friday

While the undefeated New Castle high school football team works out diligently on the greensward of Taggart stadium, about 33 miles away in an Ohio town, Warren, to be exact, a lanky football mentor, Pierre Hill, Harding high tutor, is working just as hard, getting his squad in the proper mind and shape for the grueling battle with the Tin City Hurricane, according to an article appearing in the Warren Tribune-Chronicle.

The two teams will oppose each other in what promises to be one of the most exciting affairs in the district, on Friday night, under the glittering floodlights of Taggart stadium.

The Warren paper credits New Castle with having a club that last week looked as good if not better than the combination that walked off with a startling 7-0 triumph over the Ohioans, last year. This week, Mentor Hill is correcting the weaknesses that cropped out like so many "sore eyes" in the opening game with Erie, the Warren paper states.

Aerial defense is being stressed. One statement reads: "True enough, Hill has a tough job in making veterans of his inexperienced club in the short time of three weeks, but he expects to have a few surprises for New Castle."

Warren is building a defense aimed to halt off-tackle plunges and double reverses behind the line ending in long end sweeps. The scouts from Ohio have reported their "find" in the New Castle-Butler contest, and Hill is drilling on the weaknesses which were noticed by the scouts here.

In Warren, just like in Pa. New's domain, the contest is creating much discussion. It is expected that several thousand Warrenites will forsake the city to watch the battle.

Definite Gain
In Employment
Seen In ReportsHead Of CCC Tells Of Re-
Employment Figures For Members Of His Army

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Definite gain in private re-employment was indicated in a report President Roosevelt read to his press conference which had been received from Robert Fechner, head of the CCC.

During the first six months of the forest army existence, 19.2 per cent of the men who left camp found employment. During the second six months, 36.6 per cent were able to find outside jobs.

The third survey showed a slight slump to 32.8 per cent, but the fourth and last one hit a new high of 39.4 per cent.

The president directed Fechner henceforth to proceed on a definite enrollment schedule, which will gradually get the CCC down to 300,000 by July 1, at which figure he hopes to make the camps a permanent institution. Fechner was directed by Oct. 1 to fill all vacancies up to 500,000, not including 16,500 Indians, and then make no winter enrollments, so that private employment gradually would absorb 109,000 by July 1.

In line with his idea of making the CCC permanent, Mr. Roosevelt pointed out that about 750,000 boys complete their education annually. Of this number, perhaps 150,000 are physically or otherwise unqualified for service.

Thus, it is the president's hope to offer a one year opportunity to half of the remaining 600,000 boys to enroll in the forest army. The needy will always be given preference but in the future, the president hoped conditions will be such that a boy may enroll even though his family is not on relief.

United States May Not Escape Despite Neutrality Law, Feeling Is Our Country May Be Drawn Into War

ALL EUROPE IS ARMING FOR WAR

Central Press
Washington Bureau.
1900 S. Street.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Despite the American neutrality law there is an obvious feeling in Washington that it will be exceedingly difficult for the United States to keep clear of a large-scale conflict if it breaks out on the other side of the Atlantic. Illustratively, although the stock market, in general, is jittery over war mutterings, stocks in companies engaged in the manufacture of military supplies are not so jittery. The conclusion in inescapable that folk believe such stuff will be shipped regardless of the law, if there is a sufficient demand for it.

LAW ENDS MARCH 1
The law, it is to be remembered, is good only until next March 1. Then, unless it is re-enacted or a substitute for it is adopted, American munition makers will be back on their old-free-for-all basis. And if, by that time, a good sized war is raging in Europe and in Afro-European waters, the temptation for America to profit by it undoubtedly will be also irresistible. Not alone will big manufacturers see a chance for huge profits. Unemployed workers will recognize an opportunity to be reabsorbed into industry. Employed workers will be counting on higher wages. Farmers will foresee greatly advanced crop prices.

ALL WILL DESIRE TO BENEFIT
Thus, in all probability, labor and agriculture will be with the outright munition makers in opposing an American policy of overly strict neutrality. Undoubtedly they will not, as early as next March, be clamoring for Yankee participation in an overseas struggle, but it is good betting that they will be wanting to benefit by it. The demand for participation, it is an equally safe gamble will follow in due course. Warfare, somehow, is contagious, anyway.

IF HITLER JOINS
True, a war between Italy and Abyssinia cannot greatly signify to Uncle Sam. A war between England and Italy, however, would create a billious situation. Still, even such a war would mean no more than the bottling up of Italy, in the Mediterranean which would not especially concern Uncle Sam. But Washington's war, navy and state department experts, cannot believe that Mussolini is preparing to match forces with England without an understanding with Hitler. That would not let Italy out of the Mediterranean and Germany has not the sea strength to fight England. It might do some damage to London by the aviation route, but not enough to be decisive. Yet Germany and Italy combined could attack France, on land and from the air and by water, very effectively. England, in that case, certainly would have to come to the Gallie defense on terra firma.

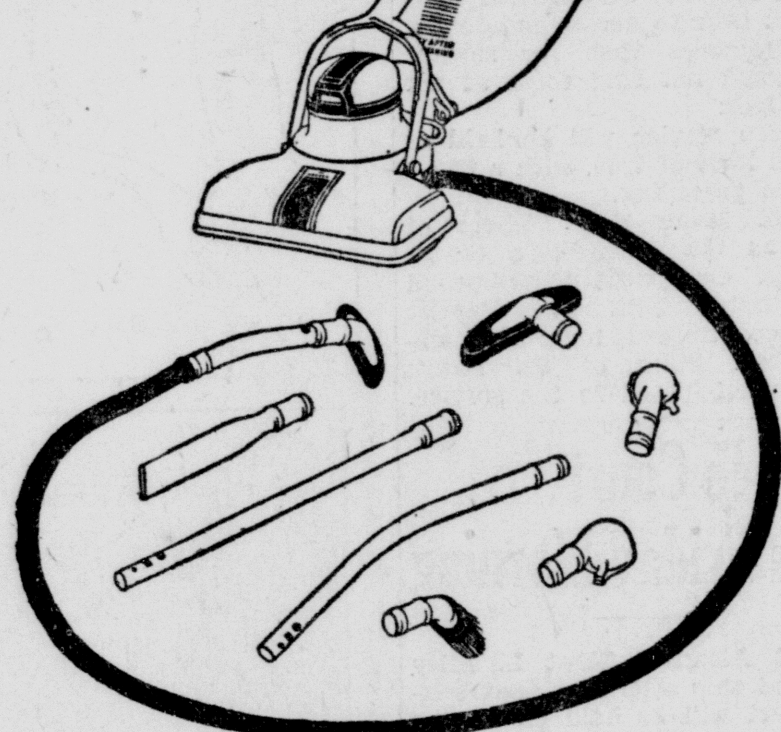

HOW WAR COULD SPREAD
That would be quite a war, but by no means would it exhaust the possibilities of complications. Russia hates the Nazis like poison. All the strategists I meet in Washington are agreed that Moscow never would miss a chance to strike at Teutons fighting France and England on their western frontier. Which would give Japan an ideal chance for a grab at Soviet territory in Eastern Asia.

SMALL NATIONS ENDANGERED
Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania, of course, would be stepped on in the melee, as Belgium would be, to the westward. Holland would jeopardize its line of communications from the North Sea to its Far Eastern colonies in Java and Sumatra. The Dutch accordingly, are mobilizing their naval forces. Greece, being pro-English likewise, is mobilizing against Italy. Turkey lest it be involved in fortifying the Dardanelles against any spread of hostilities into the Sea of Marmora. And uprisings of the colored races, against the white man, are threatened all over the world, if white Italy is given its way in Ethiopian Abyssinia. How to keep out of such a war is a problem.

On Court House Hill

An alias subpoena in divorce was served on Mary Froc Prestipino by Deputy Sheriff Wardman yesterday in a case brought by her husband, Natale Prestipino in which desertion is alleged.

Claim of Mrs. Rachael Bowden for damages to her property by reason of a change of grade on the New Castle-Youngstown road, was heard by viewers yesterday at the office of Attorney J. Roy Mercer. The viewers will report their findings later.

County Commissioners Clerk, William A. Eakin, reports that a number of nomination papers have been taken out by independent candidates, the most of them being for borough and township offices. At least one paper has been taken out for the office of county commissioner. No papers have yet been filed.

Voters in the first precinct of the eighth ward are securing signers to a petition to have the election precinct divided into two precincts. It is claimed that the precinct is now entirely too large for the election board to handle, and that the voting would be greatly facilitated by having two precincts. The petition will be presented to court within a few days. Condition of the finances of the county as indicated by the report of County Treasurer William O. Pitts today, show but $1,332.58 in the poor fund, with a bill of about $4,400 due Dixmont hospital. Amount in the general fund, $43,367.50, and in the gasoline fund, $36,173.04. Salaries and general running expenses are paid largely from the general fund. Expenses on roads and bridges are paid from the gasoline fund, while the upkeep of the county home, asylums and hospitals, is paid from the poor fund, as well as the expenses of the home relief department. Taxes are coming in slowly and from present indications it looks very much as if it will be necessary soon to borrow money to meet the expenses of the poor department.

Testimony was taken before viewers yesterday on petitions for damages to the Douglas properties at the northeast corner of McClelland avenue and State street, generally known as the Youngstown hill. The lots have a frontage of 135 feet on which are erected two houses. It is claimed by the owners that they were damaged by the changing of the grade, when the road was recently improved. One of the questions involved is the width of the road previous to the improvement and this will not be finally determined until the viewers have made some further investigation. There was considerable differences of opinion as to the amount of damages on the part of witnesses for the owners of the properties and witnesses for the county. The view-
